

SEARCHING?

Looking for friendship?
Exploring your inner self?
Hoping to find a new purpose in life?
Seeking a closer relationship to God?
Wanting to make the world a better place?
Trying to realise your true potential?
That's fine, and there are many people, ideas and groups who can help you, but

CHECK IT OUT FIRST

Not all paths are equally safe. Some movements promise solutions to life's problems, but can leave you with more problems than you started with. They may:

- Be dishonest or secretive about their true nature
- Demand much more of your time than you expected
- Cost you a lot of money and leave you in debt
- Harm your relationships with your family and friends
- Make you emotionally dependent on the group, so you find it difficult to leave

INFORM Information Line:

020 7955 7654

Inform, LSE, Houghton Street London WC2A 2AE email:inform@lse.ac.uk web:www.inform.ac

Inform is an independent charity started with the support of the Home Office and the mainstream Churches and based at the London School of Economics and Political Science. If you need reliable, balanced and relevant information about a religious group, ask Inform. If you, or others known to you, are experiencing difficulty because of involvement with a new religious movement or alternative spirituality, speak to Inform. We carry information on over 4,300 organizations and have an international network of specialists, including scholars, counsellors, lawyers and former members who might be able to help you.

Your local contact is: